

Buying and selling large quantities of optical cables

Article Overview

Bulk trading of fiber optic cables requires understanding market demand, sourcing models, certifications, and leveraging B2B platforms to connect with global buyers.

Market Overview

The global fiber optic cable market is growing rapidly, driven by telecommunication infrastructure expansion, 5G rollouts, broadband networks, and data center connectivity. The market is projected to reach USD 25.8 billion by 2027, with a CAGR of 7.96% (). This growth ensures sustained demand for fiber optic cables across multiple industries, making bulk trading a potentially profitable venture.

Sourcing Options

There are two primary sourcing models for bulk fiber optic cables ():

- Factory-Direct Manufacturers
- Examples: Corning Incorporated, Prysmian Group
- Pros: Lower per-meter cost for very large orders, direct customization options
- Cons: High minimum order quantities (typically 50,000 meters), longer lead times
- Authorized Distributors
- Stock certified inventory from multiple brands
- Pros: Lower minimum orders (1,000–2,000 meters), faster fulfillment
- Cons: Higher per-meter cost, limited customization When choosing a supplier, con...
