

Cable Tray Sheet Metal Cutting

Article Overview

Cutting sheet metal for cable trays requires the right tools, precise measurements, and strict safety precautions to maintain structural integrity and prevent injury.

Tools and Equipment

- Band Saws: Ideal for low-height, thin metal trays and support channels. They provide accurate cuts with minimal noise and debris. Cordless models like the Hilti SB 4-A22 are recommended for ease of handling and safety features such as blade brakes and chip collectors .
- Circular Saws: Suitable for light channels, cable trays, and ladders. Models like the Hilti SCM 22-A offer precision, LED guidance, and safety guards .
- Angle Grinders: Offer flexibility for on-site cutting but produce sparks and debris. They require two-handed operation and careful protection of surrounding materials .
- Profile Shears: Efficient for cutting folded or bent trays without burrs or deformation, suitable for coated materials . Avoid using torches, as they can damage surface treatments and weaken the metal .

Cutting Procedure

- Measure and Mark: Use a tape measure and marker to accurately define the cut line on the tray .
- Secure the Tray: Clamp the tray to prevent movement during cutting.
- Select the Appropriate Tool: Choose based on material type, thickness, and available equipment.
- Cut Slowly and Steadily: Follow the marked line, keeping the tool stable to avoid jagged edges....
