

DC Cold Aisle Remote Monitoring Manufacturer

Article Overview

Leading manufacturers of cold aisle containment systems with remote monitoring capabilities include Cool Shield, Maysteel Industries, Eaton, Subzero Engineering, and Legrand.

Key Manufacturers and Solutions

Cool Shield (Worthington Armstrong Venture) offers modular hot and cold aisle containment systems designed to optimize airflow and energy efficiency in data centers. Their solutions include aluminum channel systems that can be customized for new or existing facilities, providing consistent cold air delivery to IT equipment while enabling remote monitoring of airflow and temperature conditions . Maysteel Industries provides custom-engineered hot and cold aisle containment solutions with a design-build approach. Their systems feature vertical panels and modular components that isolate cold aisles, improve cooling efficiency, and allow integration with monitoring systems for real-time temperature and airflow management . Eaton supplies aisle containment kits compatible with standard rack sizes, offering easy installation and flexibility. Their systems include sliding doors and roof panels that can be monitored remotely to ensure proper separation of hot and cold air, enhancing cooling efficiency and reducing energy costs . Subzero Engineering specializes in cold aisle containment (CAC) systems that fully separate cold supply air from hot exhaust air. Their solutions use doors, ceiling panels, and structural frames to create enclosed zones, enabling precise monitoring of intake temperatures and airflow to prevent hotspots and maintain optimal operating conditions .
