

Guyana Micro-module Manufacturer Direct Sales

Article Overview

Guyana offers both government-backed and private-sector opportunities for sourcing micro-modules directly from local manufacturers.

Solar Micro-Module Market in Guyana

Guyana's solar energy market is growing rapidly due to high electricity costs (US$0.33–0.40 per kWh) and government initiatives under the Low Carbon Development Strategy 2030 (LCDS 2030), which aims for 70% renewable energy by 2030. The government is deploying around 30,000 Solar Home Systems (SHS) and mini-grids in approximately 200 hinterland communities. This creates a defined market for smaller solar modules (50Wp–200Wp), which must be durable and suitable for remote areas.

Direct Sales Opportunities

Local manufacturers can engage in direct sales through two main channels:

- Government Procurement:
 - Sales are conducted via public tenders.
 - Contracts are typically large but infrequent, with high payment assurance.
 - Modules must meet specific durability and sizing requirements for rural applications.
- Private Sector and Commercial Clients:...
