

What are the professional tools for cutting optical cables

Article Overview

Fiber optic cables are cut using specialized tools such as fiber optic strippers, Kevlar cutters, diagonal cutters, and precision cutting scissors to ensure clean, damage-free cuts.

Key Tools for Cutting Optical Cables

1. Fiber Optic Strippers Fiber optic strippers are designed to remove the protective coatings and buffer layers from optical fibers without damaging the glass core. They allow technicians to expose the fiber for splicing or termination while maintaining signal integrity and preventing cracks or breaks in the fiber (Jonard Tools) . 2. Kevlar Cutters Kevlar or aramid yarn strength members inside fiber optic cables require specialized Kevlar cutters. These scissors are made from hardened steel with serrated blades to prevent slippage and ensure precise, clean cuts. Regular scissors are unsuitable as they dull quickly and may crush the fibers (Lanshack) . 3. Diagonal Cutters / Precision Flush Cutters Diagonal cutters or precision flush cutters are used to trim optical fibers cleanly. Their sharp blades allow for crush-free cuts, which is critical for maintaining the fiber's performance and signal quality. These cutters are often ergonomically designed for comfort during repeated use (Jonard Tools, trueCABLE) . 4. Fiber Cable Cutting Scissors Specialized fiber cable cutting scissors, such as the CFS-2 model, are used to cut both the fiber and its cladding. They often feature multiple holes for stripping different layers of the fiber, allowing technicians to quickly and accurately prepare fibers for splicing or termination without damaging the core (Holight Optic) . 5. Jacket Removers / Cable Strippers While not directly cut...
