

What is the typical price for direct burial of optical fiber

Article Overview

Direct burial of optical fiber typically costs between $1.40 and $6 per foot, depending on cable type, terrain, and installation method.

Cost Breakdown

Material Costs: Armored fiber optic cables suitable for direct burial range from $0.50 to $5 per foot, depending on strand count, jacket type, and whether the cable is single-mode or multimode . Single-mode fiber is generally more economical for long-distance runs, while multimode fiber costs more per foot but may be sufficient for shorter distances .

Labor and Installation: Trenching, conduit installation, and directional boring significantly affect costs. Typical trenching labor ranges from $7 to $50 per foot, with directional boring costing $1.20 to $6 per foot depending on soil conditions and obstacles . Rocky terrain, high water tables, or urban areas with traffic control requirements can increase costs substantially .

Conduit and Protection: Installing HDPE or PVC conduit adds $0.50 to $4 per foot, providing future-proofing and protection against environmental damage . Handholes, access vaults, and splice enclosures can add $200-$800 each depending on size and location .

Total Installed Cost: For a standard suburban or rural project, the fully installed cost...
